Attention students! Are you someone who enjoys learning about the world and would like to take a trip to Boston?

9/17/2022

The extracurricular activity Harvard Model United Nations is for students who are interested in international issues and have a desire to solve important problems. We will meet weekly from late September through January. Membership involves doing individual and collaborative work to prepare for a conference on January 25th-January 29th, 2023. The conference takes place in Boston and is organized by Harvard University. The SHS delegation will be assigned a country to represent in all kinds of international disputes. So in our preparation, we will learn about our country and determine its priorities in world politics, economics, humanitarian issues and defense.

Please understand that this extracurricular activity is meant for driven students who are passionate about social studies. An application process will be used in order to select students who will make the trip to Boston. However, even if you're not selected to make the trip, you can still participate in the activity in order to gain experience for future years.

If this sounds like something you might want more information about, please fill out this form and you'll be contacted by advisors Mr. Keith Johnson and Ms. Rachael Holden-Kaufman:

If you have any questions, contact Mr. Keith Johnson or Ms. Rachael Holden-Kaufman via email or stop in to their rooms (3145 and 3110)
